MRS. JOHN A. LEE,
PRESIDENT OF THE B.O.C.

MRS. COLUMBUS HAILE,
MEMBER OF THE B.O.C.

Preparations are afoot for the annual B. O. C. ball, which will be given on Thursday night of this week at the Odessa. For several weeks the various committees of ladies, appointed by the president, Mrs. John A. Lee, have been actively engaged in planning for decorations, reception, music, etc., and in every particular the ball bids fair to outshine those of former years.

All the old Southern element of society takes a vital interest in this ball, and on the dancing floor once every year one may see scores of persons past middle life, who never by any chance make an appearance at other similar places of amusement, but who would consider a duty left undone if they neglected the B. O. C.

Last year the balls revealed, but as this year's crop is hardly up to the standard in respect to numbers, we may expect a fair division of old, young and middle-aged. Mrs. Lee made her plans early, and they are well-nigh perfect. She is assisted by several ladies whose ability in the matter of arranging balls is unquestioned—Misses Samble, Chandler, Kimes, Cornwell and Hester, which will be a new departure this year. Mrs. Chandler, for the hall; Misses Grubbs, Freese, Valliant, Chen and Campbell for tickets; Misses Cornwell and Hester for badges; Misses Givens and Hurdley for programmes; Misses Kim, Norris and Smith for music; Misses Kitchin, Lillie and Slayback for luncheon; Misses Grubbs and North for the press. These constitute the working committees. Also appointed by Mrs. Lee are Mrs. Bryan Snyder, chairman of the Ladies' Reception Committee; and Major Edward Cunningham, Jr., who will attend to similar matters for the men, with Doctor Louis Pim as chairman of the Floral Committee.

It seems that when Mr. and Mrs. George Lee took their departure not long ago for a honeymoon trip they were accompanied by some of the usual wedding appointments thrust upon them by admiring friends in the way of white satin ribbon decorations; rice in various quantities and the usual signs of "Go inside and see the bride" hung on Pullman cars, etc.

One little joke in which the perpetrators prided themselves considerably was a cow bell radiocast to some of their baggage. The donor of this token has been discovered by the bride and bridegroom, who at their first stop, proceeded to pen the following bit of verse and dispatch it to the St. Louis joker of course of the masculine persuasion. I shan't give you his name, but I may delicately hint that his association with several weddings lately in the capacity of an important functionary has given him such experience that there is almost no limit to his feckless ingenuity when it comes to jokes on the unlikely "contracting parties." Here is the verse:

Take care, O friend, this modest bell
Which was to us an awful sell,
Its very low, sweet, silver tinkle
Set all the passengers to winkle.
Of course, you're quite sure to believe us—
Send it back with surest grace us.
Please let it now with you abide,
Don't look it to another bride.

A New York wedding in which St. Louis people figured to a considerable extent was that of Mrs. Lillian Edgerton Barrett, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. David Morgan Edgerton, formerly of St. Louis, to Eugene Prussing of Chicago, the ceremony taking place last Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chantry of Trinity Church.

Only a few persons were present, and the event was very quietly conducted. Afterwards came an informal reception in the parlors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where the bride lived prior to the marriage. Miss Ella Prussing, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and Miss Julia Castleman Carroll of Louisville the only bridesmaid.

maid, Rudolph Prussing, son of the bridegroom, was best man, while "Bob" Markham and Henry M. Blossom, Jr., were the ushers.

After a honeymoon spent at the Virginia Hot Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Prussing will come West to live in Chicago at the bridegroom's handsome home, No. 55 Dearborn avenue. Many Chicago people of social prominence—the Hennrichs, the Lyman H. Hennrichs, the Neales—went to New York for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Heman Clark, Jr., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son. Mrs. Clark was Miss Berenice Ballard.

When are the Thursday dances of the last two seasons, and they have not had the pleasure of chronicling a list of matrons and maids who will lend their social charms to this heretofore very successful club? Can it be that Miss Mary Frances Boyce, on whose shoulders fell most of the work last season, has wearied of well-doing, or did the men fail to pay up last year, even after I scolded them well for former delinquencies?

Mrs. Russell Harding gave utterance to the bon mot of the evening on Monday at the first "frills" performance, when she turned to friends as the last curtain went down and remarked:

"That's what I call breaking up house-keeping with a vengeance."

Several St. Louis people went to Chicago last week to attend the funeral of Colonel J. C. Clarke, former president of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jaffrey, No. 184 Michigan avenue. The Russells and Clarkes of Mobile have long been intimate friends of the Russells, Will J. Thornton and several others who have come to time been entertained in royal manner at their Southern home.

Mrs. Ruby Shotwell Piper, who made her first appearance as a concert singer in her home last week, were one of the most effective gowns seen this season on stage or in the drawing-room. It was spangled, of course, since we do not seem able to get away from this radiant and decorative form of ornamentation; and of white satin, veiled in the drawing-room, the latter a shimmering mass of silver. Long angel sleeves hung from the shoulders, the filmy mesh of these also spangled. About the skirt the silver crowded itself together in wavy lines, disseminating in most Parisian fashion toward the waist. All together, the gown was artistic and beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gale will take their departure in a very few days to spend the holidays with their daughter, Mrs. Grace Gale Welsh, who is now in Denver. I hear from accredited sources that the Welsh establishment on one of Denver's fashionable thoroughfares is a model of beauty, of housekeeping, of comfort, and of real "homeliness." I have long had an idea that some preliminary picking, preserving and other painstaking efforts along domestic lines, in which Mrs. Welsh used to indulge when she was Miss Gale might not come amiss some day; and that the Prince Charming, when he might arrive, would be a much-to-be-ensured person as regards the looking after of his creature comforts. It is this a pleasure to find that one's opinion is substantiated by.

Did anybody see whether or not George Ade wrote a screed last week concerning the mispractices of his erstwhile conferees and friend, Mr. Peter "Dooley" Dunne, who was present and spent an enjoyable evening with Miss Margaret Abbott of New York? A nice girl who lives in Chicago-New York.
